

SCOTT GEORGESON

OVERVIEW

Hi! Thanks for taking the time to read my resume, here is a little about myself...

I dearly love to worship Jesus and have had my life changed many times through worship. I have a heart for prophetic worship and to see my team move in the spirit. We first pray and listen, then program, and most importantly remain open to change and what God is saying.

I have a wide skill set that includes worship leading, harmony, playing bass, guitar, audio engineering, video production, lighting, large productions, teaching, and preaching. I have been on stage before seating of 1800 people, and have been involved in leading creative worship departments from 40 to 130 people. I have managed some very large budgets.

My experience has taught me that a great (worship/creative) department requires many areas of shepherding: For the team to know they are loved, acknowledged, and called. I believe in training in every area at all levels, lots of fun and regular teaching of the word around worship, good team management skills, care for people, love for the church, and a clearly laid out vision. I am an organized, process, and systems-oriented person who implements with grace and love.

My skill set would be best suited in a situation that requires a Worship / Director of Arts Pastor leading both the Music team and AV team. I have experience in every area of worship production from leading worship through to crafting high-quality streaming for online services.

BRIEF OVERVIEW

To Whom It May Concern:

With great delight I would like to recommend Scott Georgeson.

Perhaps a little about me will lay a foundation for my confidence in Scott.

I have been in worship ministry and leadership for over 20 years, leading teams, writing songs, recording albums and developing media departments. I have also been a personal assistant to executive leadership. I am currently serving as an Elder at Seeds Church, the second largest of our denomination in Australia, which is based in the southern foothills of Adelaide. In addition to being an Elder I operate my own Video Production business.

I first met Scott when I was music director at Southside Christian Church, which is now Edge Church International, based at Reynella, just south of Adelaide.

From the first time I met Scott I knew he was deeply passionate about worship, both personal and corporate. We would have many lively discussions late into the evening about what worship meant and how it can play a role in people's personal relationship with Christ and as a culture within His church.

Edge church grew to approximately 5000 and during this time had a creative team of some 100+. Scott attended Edge for 15 years involved in every aspect of the creative ministries including, Musician, Singer, Worship leader, Actor in productions and Technical team manager at our city campus. For 6 years he was part of the 4 man leadership over the creative ministries team.

Scott's musical gifting was always a benefit to our teams. However, it was his personal dedication to his craft and preparation for Sundays that impressed me the most. This, I believe, would be a great encouragement to any worship team members who are looking to grow in their role.

They say something isn't taught unless it is caught. That may be a nice saying, however I see that in Scott. Through my work in Video Production I have had the opportunity to see Scott provide training to software clients and become the global leader in training for one particular company. The reason I believe this is important and noteworthy is because Scott has a gift in teaching and training others.

Scott and I have also worked on a few video production projects together for one of Scotts overseas clients, and he was fun and a pleasure to work with outside of church.

Scott has a great love for technology and a gift for seeing it applied to benefit worship services. He believes that the right equipment, set up the right way will see people being given the best opportunity to reach out and touch God, undistracted by technical problems that can occur in many churches.

I remember one church in South Africa said their worship was revolutionized after Scott had researched and installed a desperately needed new sound system.

I really do believe that Scott has a healthy blend of experience in life, personal and corporate worship, teaching and business, which can greatly benefit the Worship, Production and Creative teams of any church.

I would be very glad to speak further with you about this via phone, SKYPE or email and I wish you well as you continue to respond to God's call for your local area,

Simon Malcolm.

Re: Reference for Scott Georgeson

To whom it may concern,

It is my pleasure to be able to provide you with a reference for Scott Georgeson.

During my 3 years as Elder/Pastor at Kingdom Life Church I have had the pleasure of working closely with Scott in the Worship team as well as in various leadership and teaching roles in our Life classes at Kingdom Life. Scott has also preached at Kingdom Life and as a person who is also blessed to lead the people from the pulpit, I am very impressed with his intimate knowledge of the word and his ability to express it in such a way that inspired our people.

I have known Scott for many years. Scott has a unique ability to be able to not only lead people in worship but has an intricate knowledge of sound, lighting, and stage production, his technical knowledge is excellent.

I have also had the pleasure of watching Scott in numerous productions where Scott has not only held the lead role but has also taken on the behind the scenes roles of Stage & Music producer.

He is a good communicator and has been blessed with a teaching gift that enables him to impart difficult subjects one on one and to large groups in a way that brings good understanding. He can be very funny and very serious, a good combination.

Scott has been successful in the business world & has gained a wealth of knowledge in the IT world having worked closely with various global organizations including Boeing, Nasa, South Australian Health Department and Coca Cola to name a few.

I have seen some of Scott's impressive predictive spread sheet work, animated PowerPoints, video productions and graphics. He is a very creative soul.

From a family perspective, Scott's children grew up within the Church environment and as a result of Scott's strong relationship with God, both made a personal commitment to follow Christ as their savior. Scott's wife Julie has also been strongly involved in the Church and is a qualified counselor which has been of great benefit assisting individuals in the Church family.

Scott's youngest Eli, is a very gifted musician and is also hoping to pursue a career in Music. Eli has played drums in our services many times.

I have no doubt that Scott has the necessary leadership, musical, technical & life skills required to be an asset. I would be more than happy to communicate further via email, phone or Skype.

Regards & Blessings,

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to recommend Scott Georgeson to you. I knew Scott during my time as a Director/Board member at “Edge Church International” where Scott was very involved in our Creative Ministries team.

Edge is a sizeable church of over 5000 with Satellite churches all over the world. Scott played a leadership role in almost every area of the creative team including music, worship leading, productions, technical sound, audio and lighting. Scott was one of our creative team leaders.

Scott presented as a very hard worker who was regularly at church repairing, building, and preparing for upcoming events, organizing and leading various practices and team building events. Many times, Scott would be there very late into the night and arrive early in the morning when conferences were on.

I find Scott to be extremely creative with everything he does and based on our many business conversations, I can say his business ventures have certainly demonstrated his willingness to take a risk based on sound strategies. He is also a good problem solver able to trouble shoot and fix a range of technical problems from software to computer hardware and AV equipment.

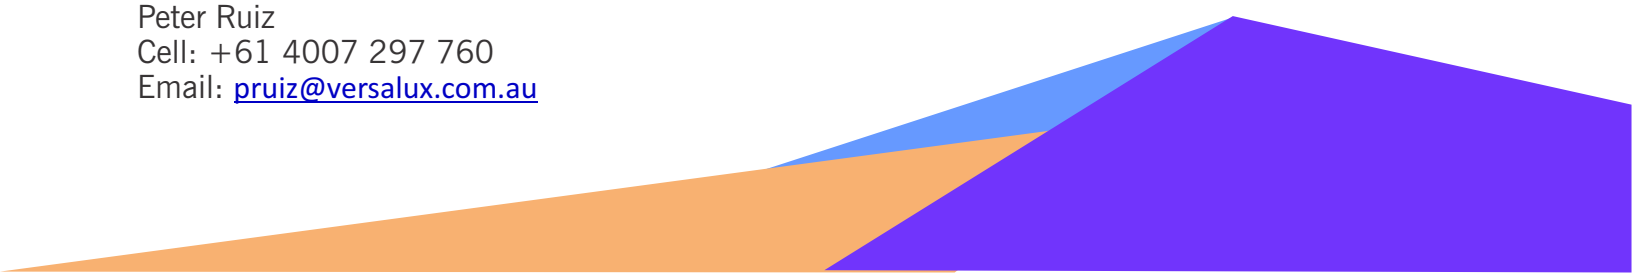

I know Scott has assisted other churches with sound and lighting and has overseen sound for major International events. He has also helped our guys with Church marketing layouts and album covers due to his graphic design teaching profession.

Scott is zealous about worship, sound in the bible of which he has a very healthy grasp. He is a gifted speaker/teacher with an excellent ability to communicate with others. I believe he would significantly add to any Church team.

Finally, I would say that Scott is a very caring family man. He has a most loving relationship with his wife Julie. Scott is also a caring father. Both of his sons, Joel and Eli work for Family's SA, looking after underprivileged children. Joel the older of the two is one of their Regional Managers.

I would be very glad to speak further with you about Scott. I can be reached by phone, Skype, Whatsapp, Viber or email.

Yours faithfully,

To Whom It May Concern:

I am happy to recommend Scott Georgeson to your church.

Whilst I was a Pastor at Edge Church International, at the Reynella campus, Scott was very involved in the Creative Ministries team. Scott was one of our leaders and played an integral role in many areas within the team.

I've known Scott for over 20 years and in that time, Scott has been loyal, dedicated, honest and trustworthy. He is a man with a passion for God's Word. He has a desire and pursuit to know Jesus more intimately and to share Gods truth and love.

There is no doubt Scott is passionate about worship; he studies it, talks about it and wants everyone to experience it.

Scott has a servant heart that is dedicated to Jesus. He is a gifted educator of the Word and great communicator with a sound knowledge. Scott is a team player and is enthusiastic for training, teaching and releasing not only the next generation but his peers as well.

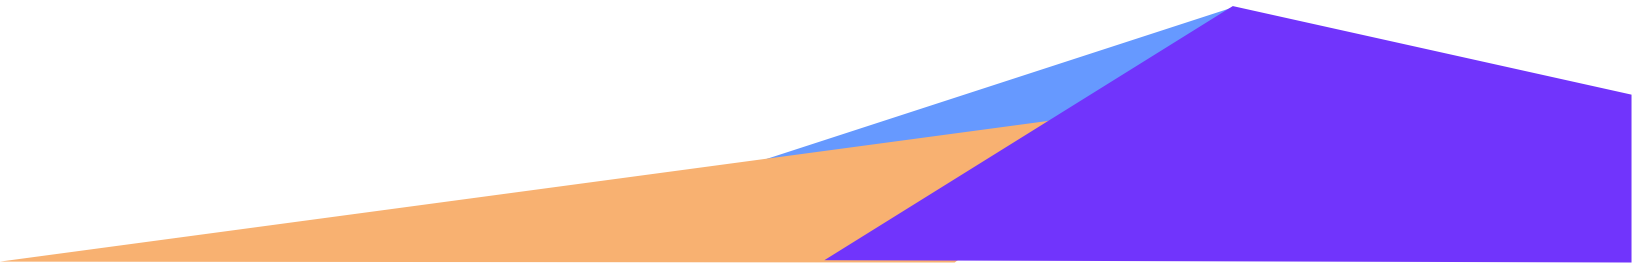

Scott is well loved, liked and has an ability to relate to both young and older generations.

I believe that Scott would be a gift and strength to any church particularly in the Creative Ministries Department, he would be perfect in many roles, including that of a Technical director, Worship Arts Pastor, or Creative Director.

To whom it may concern

Scott Georgeson

I engaged Mr Georgeson as a consultant to assist in the creation of a sound solution for a project I was leading as the Senior Project Manager with the Department of Planning, Transport and Infrastructure, South Australia.

The project was to build a multi-million state of the art creative center for Windsor Gardens Secondary School.

The architect and I were concerned about the design aspect of the five-room recording studio and performance area. We were not convinced the submitted plans would be suitable and future-proofed enough for a state of the art creative teaching center. At this point, we engaged Mr Georgeson to write a report on a gap analysis of the design and provide solutions. He proved to have the ability to solve complex problems and provide concepts & solutions to issues our engineering team struggled to solve.

Mr Georgeson demonstrated experience and knowledge on how to create a recording studio. He exhibited a high level of technical knowledge regarding recording standards and the equipment needed to create a teaching studio.

One of the more pleasing aspects of the engagement was how quickly he gained the trust of the school when the building was completed resulting in the school engaging Mr Georgeson to provide all of the recording, video equipment and a complete LED lighting system in their performance area.

I would gladly engage Mr Georgeson for future projects.
